

Lowell Dean Lutz, 81, husband of Lona (Starke) Lutz, died April 3, 2021 at Carrington Health Center. Lowell was born in Drake, ND, on August 4, 1939, the second son of Werner D. Lutz and Maude (Dunbar) Lutz. He spent most of his life on the farm homesteaded by his grandfather Lee Dunbar at Glenfield, ND.

Lowell graduated from Glenfield High School as salutatorian of his class in 1957. He then attended Valley City STC before enlisting in the U. S. Army. Lowell was stationed at Fort Carson. After an honorable discharge he returned to Glenfield and took over the family farm in 1962.

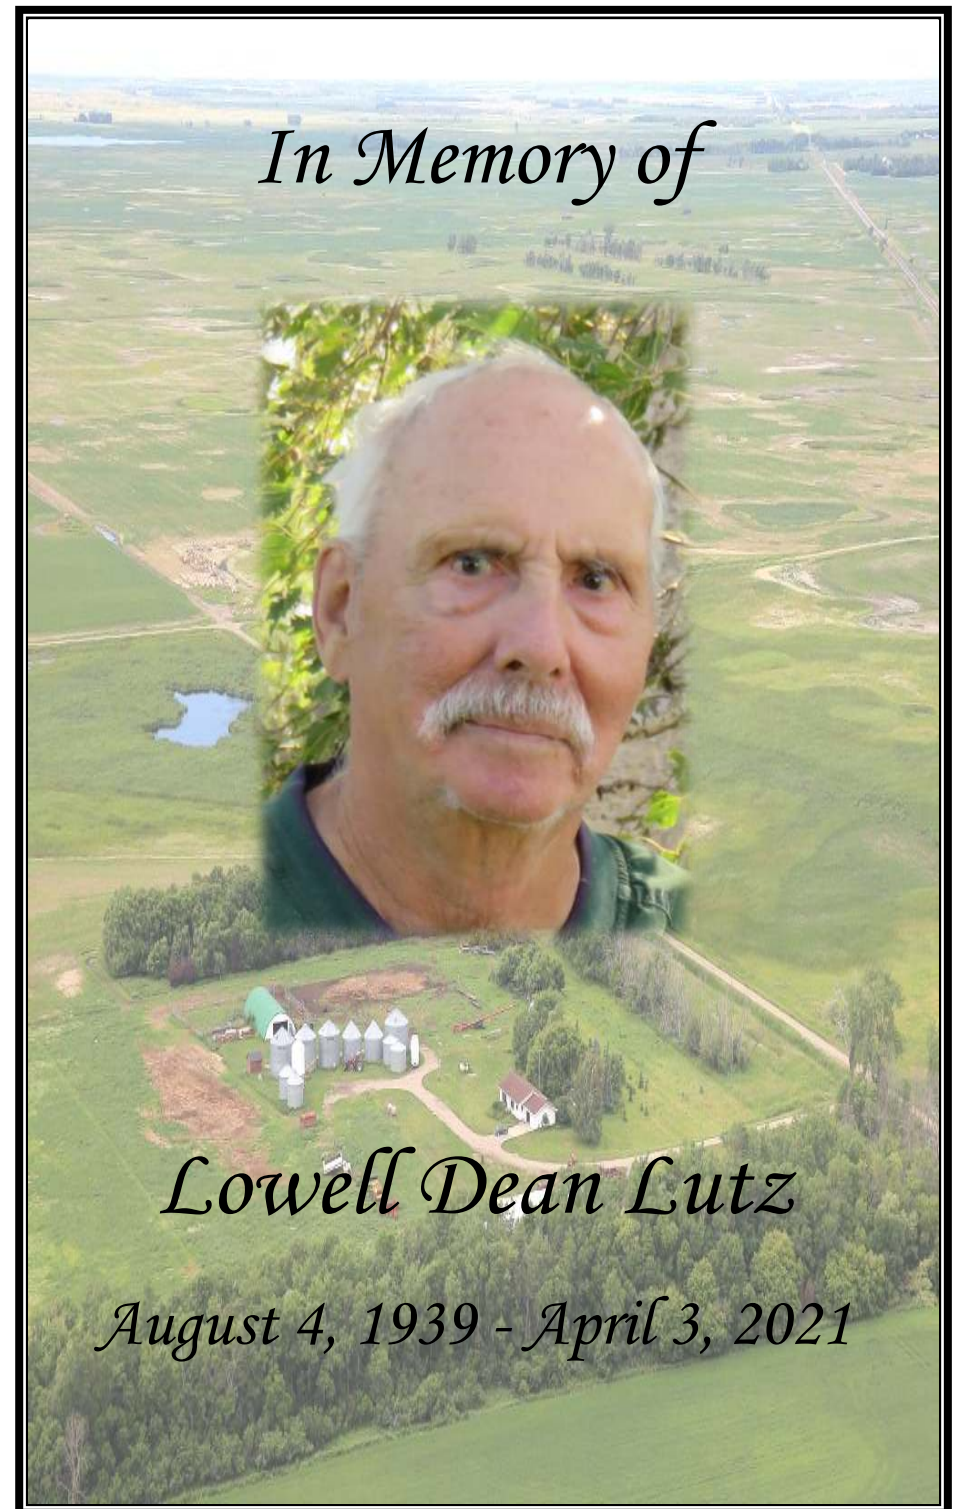

Lowell raised Hereford cattle and small grains. In the 80's he switched to black angus. Lowell believed in preserving the land so he began practicing no-till farming. He instilled his belief in his son Greg.

Lowell did not have a specific hobby, but he was an avid reader. Even when his eyesight was failing, he would read his newspapers and numerous farm magazines. He shared his research with Lona and Greg. Greg took over the farm in 2018, but Lowell still gave advice and continued reading farm publications.

Lowell is survived by his wife, Lona, and his son Jared (Lena) and five grandchildren, West Fargo, ND, two sisters, Pat (Don Jahner) Huber, Linton, ND, and Sandra (John) Hendrickson, Lewiston, ID, sisters-in-law Shelva Lutz, Mauldin, SC and Margaret Lutz, Phoenix, AZ, several nieces and nephews.

He is preceded in death by his parents, his son Greg, his baby daughter Gracie, his brothers Gary and Doug, his nephews Ernest and David, his niece Lori.

In lieu of flowers, the family prefers memorials to the Greenville, SC Salvation Army or any no-kill animal sanctuary.

Final Harvest

He was bound to the land from the day of his birth

His roots anchored deep in the fertile earth

Nurtured, sustained, by the soil he grew

And his life, like his furrows, ran straight and true.

In faith, each spring, he planted the seeds

In hope, to reap his family's needs

With patience, he waited for the harvest to come

To gather the fruits of his labor home.

Ever turning seasons, the years sped past

Till the final harvest came at last

Then claimed anew by beloved sod

He was gathered home to be with God.
